PARK STREET C OF E PRIMARY SCHOOL AND NURSERY
ANTI-BULLYING POLICY

The school recognises its foundation in the Church of England and aims to serve its community by providing an education of the highest quality within the context of Christian belief and practice. It encourages an understanding of the meaning and significance of faith, and promotes Christian values through the experience it offers to all its pupils.

Our intention is to provide a happy caring environment in which an individual child can learn to value excellence, achieve his/her potential and discover for themselves a genuine delight in learning.

Rationale

Bullying is unacceptable behaviour.

Park Street C of E Primary School and Nursery is committed to creating a safe environment, detailed in our Behaviour Policy, where children can:

- learn, work and play
- feel valued
- appreciate differences
- talk about their worries knowing that an adult will listen and offer help.

We will make it clear to pupils, staff, parents and governors that when bullying happens we will work as a community in accordance with the policy set out in this document to help both the people who are harmed and the culprits. We will ensure the safety of the child who has been bullied and do our best to support improved behaviour from the child who has bullied.

We believe that nobody should suffer bullying because of the way they look or because of their gender or sexual orientation nor because they have a different cultural background to other pupils.

Each year, the Anti-bullying Charter will be signed by the Headteacher and a representative from the staff, the pupils and the parents. The charter is reviewed by the forum every year during Anti-bullying week.

The Department of Education (DfE) defines bullying as:

Bullying is behaviour by an individual or group, repeated over time, that intentionally hurts another individual or group either physically or emotionally. Bullying can take many forms (for instance, cyber-bullying via text messages, social media or gaming, which can include the use of images and video) and is often motivated by prejudice against particular groups, for example on grounds of race, religion, gender, sexual orientation, special educational needs or disabilities, or because a child is adopted, in care or has caring responsibilities. It might be motivated by actual differences between children, or perceived differences.

Stopping violence and ensuring immediate physical safety is obviously a school's first priority but emotional bullying can be more damaging than physical; teachers and schools have to make their own judgements about each specific case.

Many experts say that bullying involves an imbalance of power between the perpetrator and the victim. This could involve perpetrators of bullying having control over the relationship which makes it difficult for those they bully to defend themselves. The imbalance of power can manifest itself in several ways, it may be physical, psychological (knowing what upsets someone), derive from an intellectual imbalance, or by having access to the support of a group, or the capacity to socially isolate. It can result in the intimidation of a person or persons through the threat of violence or by isolating them either physically or online.

Low-level disruption and the use of offensive language can in itself have a significant impact on its target. If left unchallenged or dismissed as banter or horseplay it can also lead to reluctance to report other behaviour. Early intervention can help to set clear expectations of the behaviour that is and isn't acceptable and help stop negative behaviours escalating. Since September 2014 a greater focus on how well school leaders tackle low-level disruption was included in Ofsted inspections. (DfE, July 2017)

A child-friendly definition might be:

"People doing or saying nasty or unkind things to you on purpose, more than once, which it is difficult to stop."

[Bullying Involving Children with SEN and Disabilities, Anti-Bullying Alliance.]

Bullying can be:

- Physical – pushing, kicking, hitting, pinching and any other forms of violence, threats of violence, theft
- Verbal – name-calling, sarcasm, spreading rumours, persistent teasing
- Emotional – excluding, tormenting, ridicule, humiliation
- Racist – racial taunts, graffiti, gestures

Persistent bullying can result in:

- Depression
- Low self-esteem
- Shyness
- Poor academic achievement
- Isolation

Prevention & strategies to reinforce Park Street C of E's Policy on Anti- bullying:

- Anti-bullying week
- Children are made aware of the strategies to deal with low level issues and what to do in different situations including situations of cyberbullying
- Children participate in role play work in class as part of PSHE
- Making use of curriculum opportunities to raise pupil awareness e.g. through RE, cross curricular themes, drama, story writing and literature
- A whole school reward system
- Continual focus on the values of the school. (Love, Joy, Courage and Truth)
- Good quality role models
- Adult modelling of appropriate response to a wide range of scenarios
- Children & parents have a good knowledge of the procedure/policy
- Children have a clear understanding of their rights & responsibilities
- E-safety frequently discussed and taught
- E-safety Day
- Use of Play Leaders
- Adults to deal with a situation, even if minor. Talking to the children may prevent the situation escalating.

Park Street C of E Primary School and Nursery Procedure:

The following is a list of actions available to staff depending on the perceived seriousness of the situation. The emphasis is always on a caring, listening approach as bullies are often victims too – that is why they bully.

Staff in this school will -

- Apply the school's Behaviour Policy, ensuring that they are familiar with its aims and follow the procedures detailed in it
- Encourage the children to talk about bullying and listen to them
- Be sensitive to a pupil's need for privacy and respect
- Act – and be seen to act
- Give positive role models
- Take part in National Anti-Bullying Week each year to maintain awareness of the issue
- Take every opportunity to promote anti-bullying messages
- Include behaviour on the agenda of at every meeting of the School Forum

Pupils in this school will be encouraged to recognise each other's rights to

- Be physically safe
- Keep own possessions
- Be free of insult, derogatory terms and teasing
- Be able to associate with other children for companionship and friendship

And to take responsibility for

- Safety of others
- Security of everyone's possessions
- Freedom from hurt by name-calling, teasing
- Including all pupils in play and learning activities
- Informing staff if they know that bullying is happening

SEND

We recognise that some children may be vulnerable to bullying because they have specific problems such as poor co-ordination, speech or language difficulties. We are aware that these children may need extra help. Sometimes preparing all the children by discussing issues generally may avoid problems but here sensitivity and the teacher's judgement on the situation should be used.

We aim to encourage other children to empathise with those who have particular needs or disabilities within the school. Some children may not understand why other children may behave differently and some children's SEND needs are not immediately apparent.

Racist Incidents

A racist incident is:

"any incident which is perceived to be racist by the victim or any other person".

The school's Policy for Preventing and Dealing with Racist Incidents details procedures for dealing with incidents of racism. It should be followed in all cases where bullying involves racism, including completion of the Bullying and Harassment Record and Monitoring Form. The incident will be upload onto the CPMOS system.

Homophobic and biphobic and transphobic incidents

A homophobic and biphobic and transphobic incident is:

"any incident which is perceived to be Homophobic, biphobic or transphobic incidents by the victim or any other person."

At Park Street C of E Primary School and Nursery we discuss differences between people that could motivate bullying, such as gender or sexuality. We teach children that using any prejudice based language is unacceptable. Any report of Homophobic and biphobic and transphobic incidents, will be recorded on the incident log and involve the completion of the Bullying and Harassment Record and Monitoring Form. The incident is also uploaded onto the CPOMS system.

Cyberbullying

The rapid development of, and widespread access to, technology has provided a new medium for 'virtual' bullying, which can occur in or outside school. Cyber-bullying is a different form of bullying and can happen at all times of the day, with a potentially bigger audience, and more accessories as people forward on content at a click.

The Education Act 2011 amended the power in the Education Act 1996 to provide that when an electronic device, such as a mobile phone, has been seized by a member of staff who has been formally authorised by the headteacher, that staff member can examine data or files, and delete these, where there is good reason to do so. This power applies to all schools and there is no need to have parental consent to search through a young person's mobile phone.

If an electronic device that is prohibited by the school rules has been seized and the member of staff has reasonable ground to suspect that it contains evidence in relation to an offence, they must give the device to the police as soon as it is reasonably practicable. Material on the device that is suspected to be evidence relevant to an offence, or that is a pornographic image of a child or an extreme pornographic image, should not be deleted prior to giving the device to the police.¹ If a staff member finds material that they do not suspect contains evidence in relation to an offence, they can decide whether it is appropriate to delete or retain the material as evidence of a breach of school discipline (DfE July 2017)
